Introduction

Jordan's ICT and IT Enabled Services (ITES)[1] sector has come a long way in the past years and has achieved a great deal of accomplishments in which we can all take great pride. ICT and ITES are listed amongst the government's highest priorities, and are expected to continue to contribute to the Jordanian economy.

To demonstrate the sector's growth in terms of numbers and to determine the growth in market size, exports, investments, and employment, the Information Technology Association of Jordan (int@j) and the Ministry of Information and Communications Technology (MoICT) in cooperation with the USAID Jordan Economic Development Program (SABEQ) have completed the ICT and ITES Sector Classification and Statistics for 2009 aiming to provide clear and accurate references on Jordan's ICT and ITES sector size and magnitude.

Classification Framework

The International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC) is the international reference classification of productive activities. Its main purpose is to provide a set of activity categories that can be utilized for the collection and reporting of statistics according to such activities.

ISIC is a classification according to kind of productive activity, and not a classification of goods and services. It is distinctively different in nature and purpose from the classifications of goods and services, ownership, institutional units or other types of classifications.

All the ICT and ITES Sector classifications in this report were mapped to the fourth revision of ISIC (ISIC, Rev.4) which is the outcome of a review process that spanned several years and involved contributions from many classifications experts and users around the world. The fourth revision of ISIC provides substantially more detail at all levels than the previous versions of the classification. This increased detail responds to requests by both producers and users of statistics.

Methodology

The 2009 ICT and IT Enabled Services (ITES) Sector Classification and Statistics Survey conducted between March and Jun 2010 represents a holistic assessment of Jordan's Information and Communications Technology (ICT) and IT Enabled Services (ITES) industry.

The Survey was designed based on the International Standard Industrial Classification, Version 4.0 (ISIC 4.0) to provide information on the following topics:

- ICT and ITES revenue (domestic and export)

[1] IT enabled services are the services that make extensive use of information and communication technologies.

- ICT and ITES employment
- ICT and ITES investments

The survey followed a secure mechanism that ensured data confidentiality, by using an online custom application to aggregate the data provided by companies. The online application was developed in a way to allow system administrators only to access aggregate numbers and not the specific numbers provided by each company. Entered data is split automatically into two separate databases once the application is submitted, making it impossible to link companies' information to their numbers.

Survey Methodology:

- The survey followed the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) definition of the ICT Sector, according to which the guiding principal for what constitutes an ICT enterprise is: "The production (goods and services) of a candidate industry must primarily be intended to fulfill or enable the function of information processing and communication by electronic means, including transmission and display"

- Based on the OECD definition of an ICT enterprise, ICT and ITES sector segments have been mapped to ISIC 4.0 sections.

- To ensure that the survey covers all ICT and ITES companies in Jordan (100% of the sector), comprehensive lists of companies with ICT and ITES related activities were obtained from the Ministry of Industry and Trade and all Industry and Trade Chambers in Jordan in order to identify ICT and ITES companies in Jordan (including int@j and non-int@j members)

- The initial consolidated list of companies was verified through phone calls to identify the companies to undertake the survey.

- The survey was then launched and verified companies with ICT and ITES activities were invited to fill the online questionnaire.

- During the survey, companies confirmed whether they are actually ICT and/or ITES related companies by examining a detailed list of activities and answering specific questions.

- The survey outcomes identified the companies who should be considered as ICT and/or ITES companies.

- Companies are classified as part of the ICT and ITES Sector if their "principal" activities belong to ISIC 4.0 ICT and ITES classes, i.e. are within the ICT and ITES classification domain.

- According to UNSTATS "An activity that contributes most to the value added of the unit, or the activity the value added of which exceeds that of any other activity undertaken by the unit is called its “principal” activity. It is not necessary that the principal activity account for 50% or more of the total value added of a unit”.

- Remaining companies, which did not complete the online questionnaire, were approached individually, and asked questions, in order to identify their activities based on (ISIC 4.0) classification and provide actual number of employees.

- The revenues for companies which did not fill the survey were estimated based on the actual average revenue of companies with the same “principal” ICT or ITES activity. Only the data of companies that were identified or identified themselves as carrying a “principal” activity that falls within the ICT and ITES Sector, according to a pre-defined list, were considered in the 2009 survey.

- Based on the fact that the 2009 survey adopted the ISIC 4.0 classification in identifying ICT and ITES activities and recognizing various industries, some of the identified activities and industries were different than the ones used in previous years’ surveys. Accordingly, ICT market research and ICT training activities were not considered ICT and ITES activities as they belong to “Market Research and Public Opinion” and “Other Education N.E.C.” classes, which are non-ICT nor ITES.
